

Crypto – From a sea of red to a sea of green within a single day

Description

How's everyone doing? If you were freaking out over the dip the past few days (especially this afternoon), I hope you read my previous post dispelling all the FUD and remained calm despite the markets selling off.

If you haven't already seen it, head over to read how I made 178% on a trade while the rest of the crypto markets were tanking (seriously, 1 out of the top 100 coins!) and why I believe this FUD will soon be behind us once people realise the truth about all the misreporting.

For those of you on Patreon, I posted earlier today about what coin I bought during the dip and why I felt comfortable buying it even though everyone else was freaking out.

Did I sell anything today while there was blood on the streets, and everyone was panic-selling? Yeah, all I sold was DGD – because it exceeded the fair value I attributed to it.

I didn't manage to get a screenshot of this same list this afternoon, but see this video for how it was a sea of red then.

Did I buy anything today? Definitely yes – these dips are when I buy in bulk. Compare with how the stuff on my to-buy list looks like now:

Price	Change
0.010602	23.81%
0.0042666	18.03%
0.00021547	22.43%
0.32930	32.82%
0.0030500	15.09%
0.005985	9.22%
0.0037713	14.59%
0.00053453	13.26%
0.00031200	20.46%
0.00036747	13.93%
H 0.00022967	38.63%
0.00073754	18.77%
0.00550000	17.16%
0.00205243	21.58%

Full disclosure: The above photo only shows my top picks in my watchlist. Obviously I don't have enough money to spread myself out across so many coins, neither did I buy all of them today.

As long as you follow these golden rules, you'll be fine during the crashes:

- Invest with only money you can afford to lose
- Do your due diligence and avoid shitcoins
- Don't chase the pumps if you're investing

With love,
Budget Babe

Category

1. Crypto
2. Investing

default watermark